

The House Still Stood

Jesus told a story 'bout a faithful man,
Who built his house upon a stone,
But all his friends and neighbors built their homes in sand,
On the shifting shore below.

When the wind began to blow in from the sea,
The homes on sand were tossed around,
But this wise man's foundation held his home secure,
For it was built on solid ground.

And when the thunder rolled,
And the strong winds blew,
And the rain came down,
And the great force grew,
And the thrashing storms battered all around,
And when a bolt of lightning struck the trembling ground,
Well, the house still stood.

So I built my foundation on the Solid Rock,
Jesus Christ my risen Lord,
He's been my sure salvation, ever-present help,
My refuge in uncertain storms.

Repeat Chorus

So build you life on Jesus Christ's unfailing love;
He wants to be your dwelling place.
And when you put your life in His protecting hands,
When strong winds blow you too can say:

Repeat Chorus 2x

The house still stood.
The house still stood.
